

SPECULAR HEMATITE

Element: Earth

Chakras: Root/Crown

Specular Hematite, also known as Specularite, is a variety of Hematite with a shiny exterior surface with black undertones. The shimmering effect is caused by aggregate pockets of incredibly shiny flakes of Hematite as well as minor traces of Mica. The supply has become increasingly rare.

Specular Hematite has all the Benefits of Hematite while also sharing its ability to ground higher vibrations into the physical plane. It helps the root and crown chakras open and connect to each other. There tends to be a lot of density between the Root and Heart Chakras, this stone helps to release those densities, all the way up to the crown chakra, clearing the path for our thoughts and desires to be brought down to Mother Earth so that she may help them come to fruition.

When working with Specular Hematite, the higher echelons of the universe can start to have a greater effect on your physical body and day to day life. As we journey through our self-discovery, we learn who we are and the path that we are to follow in this lifetime.

Expressing our beliefs about Spirituality can be something we get nervous about expressing to others. Specular Hematite helps elevate our confidence in all areas of our lives and supports us being a heart-centered human, and if being a practitioner is part of your journey, it will also give you greater results.

We must truly put all of our energy and beliefs into what we are doing. Fear of judgment from others only constricts and slows down our OWN journey. Society has placed unneeded restrictions on certain belief systems and this may be due to fear or misunderstandings.

That is where a light being such as yourself can play a role here on earth, by helping and advising others on their own spiritual mission. Specular Hematite helps us connect to all the other spiritual light workers around the world.

Imagine this stone as a pocket amulet capable of providing answers to the questions directly in front of you. We must take this journey of life one step at a time. Allow the weight and visual effects of this stone to be a reminder of that!
